Hampton 366 and Newport News 315 Donate Safety Glasses

Hampton 366 Exalted Ruler Dave Kelly presents New Horizons Butler Farm Campus Principal David Creamor with VEA Safety Glasses as students enjoy the VEA Safety Glasses. PSP Bill Tennis presents a pair to one of the studious members of the automotive class.

Newport News 315 Exalted Ruler Tim Means presents Woodside Lane Campus Principal Bruce Schaffer with his VEA Safety Glasses. Students from the carpenter trades are happy to be using them and protecting their eyes from chips that go airborne during construction.

When school began after Labor Day, Hampton 366 and Newport News 315, as part of the VEA Safety Glasses Program, donated a total of 500 pair to the 2 campuses of the New Horizon Technical Education Centers.

The students attending these

Career, Technical and Educational Centers have the option of some 40+ fields of endeavor from which to choose. There are 21 high schools participating from 6 localities (From Jamestown, Gloucester and Hampton – the farthest points) and also for post high school curriculums.
